

Dr. John E. Charalambakis
Chief Economist for the Blackstone Financial Group Inc

John E. Charalambakis is the Chief Economist for the Blackstone Financial Group Inc., in the United States. He has studied economics and finance in Greece, the U.S., and the United Kingdom. He has consulted with numerous organizations, corporations, non-profit groups, as well as government entities worldwide.

Dr. Charalambakis has been teaching economics and finance as a professor in the US for the last twenty. He is the recipient of many awards, including US Congressional awards, is the author and editor of three books and of numerous articles, has served on corporate boards, has appeared on economic and financial TV shows, is a frequent conference and seminar speaker, and has been credited with predicting the financial crisis of 2008 well in advance. In the last year he has been assisting the Financial Crisis Inquiry Commission in the United States in investigating the causes of the crisis.

Dr. Charalambakis interests are in the area of international financial markets, forecasting, asset allocation, and the development of viable policies that advanced economic well-being among nations. He loves research, teaching, reading, and chess playing. He is married and has four children.