

Maria Christopoulou, MD, MSc, Medical Head Oncology-Hematology, Roche Hellas

I was Born in Athens in 1968. I graduated from High School in 1986 with excellent degree and entered the National Medical University in Athens via national examination system . I graduated in 1993 with a the 'Very Good' degree. Rural service followed (1993-1994). First specialization and diploma were in Internal Medicine, in Ippokration University Clinic in Athens (1995-2000). Second specialization and diploma were in Intensive Care Unit , in Ippokration Hospital (2001-2003) Third diploma was in Clinical nutrition (Harokopio University Athens 2010-2013) where I acquired Master of Science in Nutrition and Breast Cancer Incidence. I have worked as specialized doctor in Hygeia hospital (2000-2001) and in Henry Dynant hospital (2003-2006). I work in Roche Hellas since March 2006, first as Medical Manager and since February 2013 as Medical Head of the Oncology-Hematology department .